PRACTICE THE RIGHT TOSS

Don't be afraid to catch a bad toss. It's important that you toss the ball high enough that you can extend your arm completely above you.

©2020 King Features Syndicate, Inc. All rights reserved.

Even good players make bad tosses, so don't be embarrassed about catching it. It's better to be patient and give your serve the best chance to go in than to take a wild swing at a poor toss.

The Garden Bug Poison ivy

It's very common to see the three-leaved poison ivy plant when doing yardwork or hiking in the woods. Any part of your body that contacts the urushiol oil in its leaves, stems and roots may get an extremely itchy or painful rash that can last days or even weeks! If you must work near this plant or are trying to remove it, use heavy gloves, and wear as much protective clothing and gear as you can, including goggles or a shield for your eyes. Carefully remove these items and wash separately when finished. -Brenda Weaver
